Maple Crest Horse Farm LLC – Christmas Potluck, Dec. 13, 2025

Christmas is here again, giving us the opportunity to share a potluck with old friends, regular Barnies, and new clients. All are known as Past, Present and Future Barnies.

Names aside, we were graced with a large grouping of friends arriving with great tasting food. Conversations were active with old and new stories, people moving from one table to another to inspire new friendships, stories and conversations.

With the eating of home-made food and enticing conversations, we added the riding of several horses on the arena floor. Even Dallas, the miniature, shown by Ashley and Jordan Yeckle, was added to the group. The youngest children got horseback rides but couldn't resist playing with Dallas.

The time of the potluck passed, but people stayed, still nibbling the food, conversing, riding, etc... Everyone, children and adults, enjoying the moments of peace and comfort that Maple Crest provides.

Joyce and Terry: Thank all who attended and added to our pleasurable time.
Thank all who decorated the barn.
Thank all who gave rides.
We enjoyed a Wonderful time – Well Spent

*Please contact Joyce for any missing containers of food left.

Joshua's Work Party Dec. 20, 2025

Joshua Ott and wife, Shannon, arranged for a Christmas Party at the barn for the employees of CrazeWeld LLC and their families. Food was catered and rides provided by Maple Crest Barnies and Joshua. A real hit, especially for the children, was Dallas, a miniature horse, shown by owners, Ashley and Jordan Yeckle.

Conversations flowed, smiles and laughter abounded in the area for eating and the groups standing and observing the riders and kids running about.

Several employees called out harassing comments as Joshua led horses in the arena. Though some got real quiet when Joshua swung a leg over the saddle of the biggest horse (Jose Top Shelf) and rode away. A bit of amazement was displayed at this point.

Everyone appeared to have an enjoyable time and were in no hurry to leave. They stayed to talk and laugh more. Seemed only the lure of other family parties that day called them away.

Joyce & Terry Thank all who assisted with the Party. Because of the "Barnies", it was a great success!
