Equine Affaire – April 10th -13th, 2025

Long awaited—but finally arrived! Expectation and excitement are in force for this event. Trucks and trailers have been serviced, horses bathed, trimmed, and prepared, equipment loaded—the thrill begins.

The Equine Affaire is held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in Columbus, Ohio. It's a 4-day event dedicated to horses and everything in the equine world. Through offered knowledge, experiences, displays, demonstrations and lectures, a person starts to speak "Horse".

Maple Crest Horse Farm has attended and promoted the Walking Horse Breed since the event's conception 31 years ago. We've been part of the breed booth, displaying our horses and offering information about the breed and TWHBEA to one and all. We offered printed materials for perusal to both the youth and adults, answered all questions, placing the personal touch to this great breed. We were joined by Mag Ranft (President of MOWHA and Pleasure Director of TWHBEA), Wendy Kaufman, Allie Deck, Brenda Chellis (Allie's mother), and Mark Farrar (Executive Director of TWHBEA), plus the Ohio State Director Terrance Moyer in attendance sharing manning the breed booth.

Horse Ambassador), Wendy Kaufman, Allie Deck, Brenda Chellis (Allie's mother), and Mark Farrar (Executive Director of TWHBEA), plus the Ohio State Director Terrance Moyer in attendance sharing manning the breed booth.

Allie Deck and Staubach (Chetty) were the presenters from Maple Crest Horse Farm. They rode in all the demos, presenting well the natural gaits of the Tennessee Walking Horse. Allison Fraser shared I'm Wargames (Helia) and both horses were displayed in the breed booth petting area, exemplifying the friendliness and temperament of the breed. The public oohed and aahed at the horses and petted them while taking photos of the moment.

We rode or presented in hand our horses in breed demos throughout each day in outdoor and indoor arenas. Each horse and rider were announced, name and age of horse presenting the gait. It's work to prepare for the demos and breed booths, so I believe our horses have never been cleaned and brushed, ribboned, etc. so many times in 4 days. The same could be said of those handlers presenting to the public.

Renowned clinicians were presenting lectures and clinics on multiple subjects of improving your knowledge and horsemanship levels in all areas of performance, whether personal or for judged events. Breeds presented ranged from miniature/pleasure horses, to the large drafts. Horses were offered for adoption by the ASPCA government agency. Multiple breeds, multiple clinics, lectures, demos—the day was filled with activities and excitement.

An ending event each evening termed "Fantasia" was a collection of professional performers for your viewing pleasure. All kinds of acts—from those cracking whips, twirling ropes, drill team performances, etc....

Commercially several buildings held everything needed for a horse, rider, or farm. Equipment of tack, farm tools, trailers, trucks, furniture, clothing, etc.... Even if you didn't realize you needed or wanted an item, you could find it here. Schools were offered, resort or vacation spots directed to equine people were displayed. The list of "Buy Me" was endless. Kind of a one stop shopping affair.

Now we wait for another year for the thrill of the Equine Affaire. A long wait, but worth the event.
